Switching between English and Japanese language in e-exams and device set-up

The Japanese (continuers) e-exam requires responses to be provided in English and Japanese. It is important that language keyboard packs are downloaded and enabled prior to the e-exam and students are familiar with using the language keyboards on the device they will be using during the examination.

Please see the following support guides for assistance on how to set up and enable language keyboards:

Windows – Japanese Microsoft IME keyboard:
